Overview

Each day, the Newfoundland and Labrador English School District (NLESD) transports more than 45,000 students over 34,000 kilometres to and from school using over 1,100 bus runs. Their safety and wellbeing is NLESD's top priority.

School bus service is provided by a combination of NLESD driver employees and NLESD owned buses ("District-operated Service") and drivers and buses employed and owned respectively by contractors ("Contracted Service").

Ensuring a safe and effective student transportation system requires participation from a number of key stakeholders. The responsibilities of each key stakeholder are outlined in this document.
